

When you are shopping for a high powered deer rifle you should only look for a rifle marked “This is a Christian rifle” on the barrel. If you do not buy a rifle so marked it will not work properly and surely it will cause your death by malfunctioning no matter how fine the craftsmanship is. Same goes for any home defense weapon.

When you buy shoes make sure that on the bottom you find impressed on the sole the words “this is a Christian shoe”. If you do not buy Christian shoes then the ones you do buy and use will be the ruin of your feet, legs, and back. Make sure your shoes are marked “Christian shoes”. Forget any product quality, just look for Christian shoes.

In choosing a pair of eyeglasses make sure they are labeled “These glasses work only for Christians” on them. If you wear eye glasses not marked thusly they will destroy your vision completely even if they are constructed of the best materials.

Do not purchase any food at a grocery store that is not sold under a label “Christian food” (even if it is Biblically clean). If you eat food not marked as “Christian food” you will die upon eating it.

Do not ever buy a hunting dog, guard dog, seeing eye dog, or family dog that does not come with papers guaranteeing it to be a “Christian dog”. You will be wasting your money if you make any type of such an unbiblical purchase. All pets not sold with official papers that the animal is Christian will bite, never become house trained, hate your children, and will eventually just run away. Buy only pets sold as “Christian”.

Do not ever buy an automobile that does not have painted on its doors “Christian Vehicle” and has an owner’s manual in the glove box clearly stating the operating instructions for a “Christian Vehicle”. Failure to purchase an automobile not correctly designated in writing as being “Christian” is a sure sign that the car won’t run properly and won’t get you where you wish to travel.

And finally, don’t purchase just any tool of any type to do any manner of work in any application of labor at all. Tools must be clearly marked “Christian” on them in order for them to work properly and get a job done properly. Only evil people would dare to use a hammer, screw driver, or saw that wasn’t marked “Christian” somewhere on it.

[OK --- at this point I want to apologize if I may have exaggerated things with the above paragraphs. But I wanted to get the message across concerning a some really bad info on the Internet concerning the original USA Constitution of 1787.]

If the reader considers the above statements to be ridiculous (which they are) can we now conclude the following statement to be just as silly? Namely --- “Don’t ever establish a government using the format of the original 1787 Constitution for the United States of America because the word Christian is not found within it.”

In 1996 two Cornell University professors, Isaac Kramnick and R. Laurence Moore, wrote a book entitled “The Godless Constitution”. The book is a consortium of half truths with the typical secularist slant that America never was established as a Christian nation by law. The professors reasoning is that the Constitution does not have the word “God” in it. What’s worse is that the basic premise of this book was astoundingly picked up by many in the Christian patriot right whereupon some Internet forums were created to convince Christians that the Founding Fathers were not Christians and that the Constitution they penned was an evil secular document. And why do these people view the Constitution as “evil”? Because (repeating the belief of Kramnick and Moore) they point out that “The words Christian or God do not appear in that document”. In fact, I recently received an email stating that the Constitution is worthless and criminal. Toss in all the slander of how despicable George Washington is being presented, and we now have Americans bragging that everything concerning the foundation of our nation was corrupt, evil, and sinister. How fast some forget that the founding patriots fought an 8 year war at huge sacrifice to free America from the church of Europe (Papal) and the banks of Europe (Edom). The great price paid in lives means little to the Internet critics of Washington, Jefferson, Adams, Revere, Franklin, others; they are blindly preoccupied with how the Constitution never contained the word “Christian” within its writing.

The truth which none of the multitude of present authors who hate the Founders and the 1787 Constitution cannot grasp is that the Constitution was merely a tool for government invented by white Bible believing Christians to do a good job of forming a union (federation) where they could embark upon a society that would result in a peaceful and prosperous nation. But the Constitution was never designed to undermine the then Christian governments of the States. Rather it supported the States, and was a covenant between those States that agreed to “keep hands off” of all their kindred States who themselves each had the power to decide their own religious matters. Nowhere does the Constitution say that its intent was to dissolve a Christian America of the States(united), as Kramnick and Moore imply. The Constitution as first formed was simply a tool to get some critically needed things done, just like a hammer is an invented tool to get some needed things done. Today the laser has proven to be a great development as well. A hammer or laser does not need to be stamped as “Christian” to work, and the Constitution did not need to be designated as “Christian” to work superbly.

From its ratification in 1789 and up until the Civil War the original Constitution didn’t work just good, it worked great. It was never the purpose of, nor the power given to the Constitution to set forth and begin a Christian nation, because America already was Christian simply because of the national demographics, and those allowed to hold public office were white Christians. It did however guarantee protection for the continuation of the States, and the States were governed by Christians.

The Constitution was a tool within the nation. White Christians wisely made this wonderfully working governmental tool with the stipulation that the tool would have nothing to do with interfering with their Christian faith and that no one group of people would ever be allowed to control the tool to the detriment of others. In other words, the federal seat of government of the representatives of the Constitutional federation of the Christian States was told as rephrased – “hands off of the subject of religious denominations and just get your job done”. However as a side note, the 1787 Constitution was designed as a Family Trust Instrument based on the Abrahamic concept of descent and distribution with the purpose being to secure “the blessings of liberty” and pass this divine blessing down to posterity, which at that time only meant white Christian Americans. [info here]

Yet this Constitution was strictly an invented device (tool) of white Christian men, just as was the automobile or the airplane. It was made for the purpose of performing a job well done. The “tool” had no power to tell any individual or all people all across the land that they could not study the Bible to their hearts’ content and obey God in their homes and towns everywhere across the entire nation. The people were solidly free to do that if they so chose. They were all free to obey God’s laws to whatever degree they decided. Therefore it was clear that the true intent of the Constitution had not one thing to do with making the union Christian or not Christian. The point is completely moot. The tool couldn’t “make America Christian” because America was Christian at that time. You can’t set something on fire that is already on fire. If the nation was to remain Christian that responsibility was left to the people and to the people alone.

The Constitution did not destroy Christian government in America. If America has degraded from Christianity into secular chaos it has been the fault of the people, not the tool. If a person hits another person’s big toe with a hammer, it isn’t the hammer’s fault. It actually may be a very good hammer. Critics of the original Constitution and the Founding Fathers just cannot grasp this reality. The whimsical statement: “The Constitution is man’s law over God’s law”, is a statement made in dullness of thinking. The grandfather of American education, Noah Webster, understood the importance of imparting this following truth to American youth. In the Preface to his History of the United States (first published in 1832) he wrote:

“The brief exposition of the constitution of the United States, will unfold to young persons the principles of republican government; and it is the sincere desire of the writer that our citizens should early understand that the genuine source of correct republican principles is the Bible, particularly the New Testament or the Christian religion.”

So who today hates the original 1787 Constitution and precisely why?

Let's continue below:

1) The Black Nobility and the Committee of 300. (Black refers to their deeds not skin color)

The Black Nobility family line goes all the way back to Nod and Cain's genealogical race. Once opposed to the Black Nobility, the Israelite royal houses (the former Saxon royal families of Europe) have now been mixed with the Black Nobility families that entered from Venice, Italy. European royalty can no longer claim a true lineage from ancient Israel. The Black Nobility families are very close to the top level of world control and have wealth that greatly exceeds the Jewish bankers. Except for the British royal family today the Black Nobility European aristocracy families stay out of the public eye and out of the news. The Committee of 300 comprises a group of merchants and industrialists who the Black Nobility considers "commoners" but invited into the conspiracy of world control when they (the BN) realized that they needed certain rich capitalists working in collusion in order to more completely gain control over the world. The Committee of 300 is a group of 300 men whose base evolved from the British East India company circa 1600AD – 1874AD. The original 1787 USA Constitution provides far too many checks and balances against a small secret elite group's ambitions of dominating a civil government. Thus the Black Nobility and the Committee of 300 have nothing but disdain for a Constitutional government administered by a free white Christian people who have given their lives to Jesus Christ. Of course, that Constitution is long gone in America. The current Constitution is merely a sham professing an illusion of a republic.

2) Papists. This group is fanatically dedicated to following one man in Rome (in the Vatican). To the Papist, the Pope is the ultimate source, announcer, and executor of law world wide. American Christian patriots prior to 1900 considered the Pope and his army of secret police, the Jesuit priests, as the being the main culprit that was methodically at work in America to undermine and destroy the Constitutional Republic. Those 1800's patriotic Americans wrote many books and news articles dealing with the dangers of a Catholic religion in America that was actually dedicated to a foreign power (Papal) beyond and above being dedicated to true Americanism. The Catholic hierarchy has historically announced its contempt for American Constitutional representative government where people do not want to comply to only one mortal person, the Pope, as their law giver. If given the power to do so we can conclude from its track record over the last 1500 years that the Vatican would have no problem in burning heretics alive at the stake who would choose to ignore the Pope's decrees and who instead opt for a free Christian body of Congressional representatives to decide civil matters. Our original Constitution has been destroyed and the American Christian patriots living 150 years ago warned that the Jesuits were clandestinely working to abolish it.

3) Atheist Bolsheviks.(Communists)

This group is heavily dominated by Edomite Jews. Claiming that they want to set the world's workers free from oppression they do so by mass executions of all who oppose their Utopian plans. From 1917 to 1950 in Russia and the Ukraine they murdered between 30 - 50 million agricultural society Christians who just wanted to farm the land and be left alone (read Solzhenitsyn). Bolsheviks also consider freedom to be a frame of mind where anything goes and there is really nor right or wrong. Thus every perverted lobby group in an nation finds an ally with Bolshevism where they can demand that statutes are passed to enforce their disgusting liberal lifestyle down the throats of everybody else. However history records that less than 1% of Bolshevik top elite comrades ever wind up controlling the government with the rest of the 99% of the people becoming slaves. The great vast majority of the population never gets a chance to be heard from at all. To the atheist Bolshevik the idea of a Constitutional Republic is diametrically opposed to their social Marxist philosophy.

4) Watch out for the neo-Calvinist. These folks are not as dangerous as the Papists only because they don't have quite the numbers of worldwide support, but they are a dangerous group nonetheless. It's easy for well meaning folks to get taken in by the Calvinists since they present their form of tyranny in the name of "the Kingdom of God". Their arguments closely follow the belief of Kramnick and Moore in claiming that the original Constitution promotes secularism because the words "God" or "Christian" are not found within it. Neo-Calvinists are among those who fail to recognize that the Constitution was a mere tool for government to get a few necessary things done such as organizing a federal Postal system between the States, provide for interstate roads, secure inventors' patents, provide for a common medium of exchange (money) between the States, etc., and allow for the best qualified representatives from among each sovereign Christian State to get together at a common meeting place (Congress) and decide on matters of importance for the security of all --- without permitting any one State, group, or denomination to dictate the entire meeting and government process.

As with the Papacy of the Catholic Church, neo-Calvinists dislike the idea of a representative government of a Christian people simply because Calvinism provides for a small select clergy panel to run the government and to decide public policy that is supposedly "Biblically correct" for all the people. If there is anything more dangerous to liberty than a democracy of men it is a theocracy of men. Old Calvinists and neo-Calvinists typify this sort of civil government, but ironically sell it as Biblical. They specifically are adamant against the 1st Amendment "establishment clause" which paraphrased says that "no one sect is ever allowed to run the whole show". This irritates the living daylights out of Calvinists and they constantly rail against the Constitution's

1st Amendment. Colonial American Puritan Calvinists were a mixed bag. They did some good things and some not so good things. They stopped a lot of Catholic partying on pagan holidays, but they also passed laws that allowed for waterboarding people in a cold winter river or running a hot poker through one's tongue if anybody questioned the doctrine of the clergy who had the lock on civil power. This type of civil administration will never do for a free Christian people. Regretfully, a few people today have been tricked into wanting to return to this pre-Constitutional Puritan colonial government.\(info here\) Admittedly our original Constitution has been destroyed and we are in a state of chaotic quasi-communism. However ask a neo-Calvinist to give you detailed specifics as to their "Biblical government administrative body" that they wish to establish to "correct things" and you won't ever get a clear answer. The reason is that they want their small band of select clergy to run the government unchallenged but won't flat out admit it because they know that real Americans won't agree to it.

5) Any type of dictatorship run by "banana republic" type governments.

There have been many dozens of these to rise and fall down through the centuries. They have been dominant in Central and South America, and on the African Continent. People have no voice in the banana republic dictatorship and never have an opportunity to install a true republic that has a system of checks and balances to nip corruption in the bud. Needless to say a Constitutional government run by Christians is not permitted in these nations. Furthermore these so called "republics" give the true meaning of that word a bad name. There has only been one true Republic and that was the American one.

6) This next group is mentioned last because it is nearly unknown to most people.

It is the Sirius Star Cult who is actually the top rung of the entire world conspiracy known in the Bible as "Mystery Babylon". A few chosen elite of the Black Nobility, Committee of 300, and Vatican are most likely the center core of this group but they have hidden their tracks so well that naming individuals within this cult has not been possible (to date anyhow). However their finger prints and shoe tracks are clearly evident when one closely examines major events of history going back 6000 years. In ancient Bible times this cult worshiped the star Sirius as the goddess Astarte, also known as Ashtoreth, Isis, the Queen of Heaven, Ishtar, and a few other names. Their modus operandi is: cult sacrifice mainly of humans and canines; a total control of all other New World Order societies below them; and a complete monopoly of all finances across the globe with which to "push buttons" whenever and wherever they so deem necessary. The Sirius Star Cult has been the world power controller since the days of Nod in the Bible. \(see chart\) They have never gone away and their existence is provable.

What rained heavily on this European Nodite parade was the American Revolution of 1776 and the installation of the 1787 Constitution on the North American Continent. Realizing that the upstart Americans could not be defeated militarily the cult quickly began a psychological war against the Christians in America who were utilizing their “government tool” to prevent an oligarchy takeover of the then new nation. It took the Sirius Star Cult from 1800 til 1865 to destroy the American Republic with the Civil War via a massive psychological program too detailed to elaborate here.

Summation:

What is the common thread that all six of these groups have for despising the early American patriots of 1776 and the ensuing Constitution for the United States of America which they agreed upon to run the wheels of government? Answer: Representative government by “We the people” instead of the people cowering before a single dictator or an entrenched group of clergy. Oligarchs despise representative government. When did God Almighty consecrate “We the people” to run the government? Answer: On the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2) when the Holy Spirit was poured out upon the people and not any longer just upon a king or priest. This brought forth the Commonwealth as the new way that God’s Laws would be administered. (Eph.2:12) From that day on the people would have access to the miraculous gifts of the Holy Spirit. In I Cor.12:28 one of those gifts listed is that of governments of the sons and daughters of the Most High. “Jesus Christ --- hath made us kings and priests unto God and His Father” (Rev.1:5,6)

It was in the 1776 American era that God Almighty gathered several dozens of Christian men and women anointed with the “spirit of government” to break away from Europe, which by then had been taken over by the Black Nobility royal aristocracy. Those Christian American representatives of the Commonwealth were to government what the classical genius European composers were to music. We can only look back with amazement at what they did for at least one generation. It is no wonder why all tyrants hate the 1787 USA Constitution, constantly misrepresent its law, while they demonize its authors. It has all been a psychological attack to destroy any last vestige of a government run by responsible Christian people with checks and balances against despots.

The question arises: “Why have a Constitution at all if its not mentioned in the Bible? Shouldn’t we just govern by God’s written word?” Even though the Constitution isn’t directly mentioned in Scripture it is heavily alluded to, which will be pointed out in a later sermon from this ministry (date now is 5/15/23 so check back around Jan of ’24). However, the Constitution even in its early best form won’t work now. America doesn’t have the people to make it work. The country has been intentionally “brownd down” and a representative republic can only work with white Christians running it. Further, what George Washington warned about in his farewell speech has happened. Instead of sharpening the Constitution in each generation by some honest and few amendments, the enemy has used the amendment process to destroy the original Constitution.

The Scriptures don't elaborate much on how New Testament government is to be organized. It just doesn't, so no remorse of the point. God has given us several millennia to mature as a race and a nation, expecting us to figure out the fine points by now. "Thou shalt also decree a thing and it shall be established unto you" (Job 22:28) The Constitution was an agreement between Christians to assemble to contract among themselves "federally" and agree to disagree with honest differences of opinion while they deliberated on matters of necessity for the common union. This is based on the high principle of "love thy neighbor" (Mat.22:39), and the "do unto others" concept (Mat.7:12). Every Christian community across the land was entirely free to obey and live by God's Biblical laws under this type of union (federation). That was local responsibility which the early Constitution had no jurisdiction over. Contracts between the States was a federal endeavor done at the seat of government where the States would meet. The people retained power to remove unworthy representatives.

Not every lawful assembly for contracting is going to be found specifically in the Mosaic law. Jacob contracted with Laban (Laban means "white") to work for him (Laban) for his daughters to marry (Gen. chpts 24-31). That specific contract was not found in the Mosaic law for government, but if it never had occurred there never would have been the 12 tribes of Israel. We can't accuse Jacob's and Laban's contracted agreement covenant to be "man's law above God's law" and thus claim it was evil. It wasn't evil. It was a blessed agreement not taken literally from the Mosaic law but was in the "spirit of the law" (2 Cor.3:6;17) between Adamic (white) men, and it wound up being a foundational covenant with major racial ramifications for our ancestral kin and the entire story of the Bible.

The early American Constitution isn't specifically mentioned in the Mosaic law or detailed within Paul's Commonwealth either, but it followed "the spirit of the law" as a needed agreement. Why was it needed? If the world wasn't fanatically evil the Constitution may not have been needed and all the States could have just remained isolated by themselves with a spirit of friendship. By that's not reality. The world's nations at the time of 1776 were all controlled by the Venetian Black Nobility (moved up into London) and they expected the "colonies" to step in line. When the 1776 Revolution happened America was a lone lamb among wolf nations that were all pawns of the Black Nobility focused on killing this new Christian young lamb nation. The American States had no choice but to enter into a contract (like Jacob, Laban, others did) to form a union to watch each others' backs. They knew that if there was no union each State would get picked off one at a time by Europe. The Articles of Confederation and the improved Constitution was that agreement to help each other against the threat of the murderous world in which America found itself. The union was based on a general underlying Christianity with no one sect being allowed to dominate the union. If a State on the northern border would be attacked by Europe the whole union of the other States would be assembled to repel the invasion. If a State on the south Atlantic sea coast 8 would be attacked the rest of the union within the Constitution would be there immediately to repel the invasion. This was not only a huge problem for the Black Nobility ruling Europe, but the Constitution proved to be the best form of government for free white people in several thousands of years since the time of King David or Hezekiah. It was generically Christian based on the Bible Commonwealth but prevented a corruption of clergy that may become tyrants in the “name of Jesus”. In short, the 1787 Constitution provided for government that could potentially attain a 95% righteousness if administered by responsible white Christians, but would have to wait for the return of King Jesus to fix the rest. That would be a LOT better than having the present situation rule where the Constitution has been destroyed and we have less than a 5% semblance of liberty. It can’t logically be argued that the original Constitution designed by intelligent white Christians to protect the nation should be dumped in the trash bin because it doesn’t have the word Christian in it, any more than it would be logical to throw away your .45 automatic handgun designed to protect your house for the same reason. Are we obeying God to toss away our .45 handguns (or similar) and opt for swords and bows today because the words “guns and rifles” are not in the Bible, but “swords and bows” are?

In any event, can we get back the original Constitution now? Hardly, and this author is not lobbying for that. World and national circumstances are too far gone for that to happen. But with the possibility of some Americans weathering out the coming storm it would be a benefit to teach the younger folk why they need to learn about general Christian Commonwealth law (1776 victory style), and why a representative form of government would be an immense help to them in setting up communities in “pocket areas” where they can regroup into a civilized people and not live in total chaos. If and when that would take place their renewed Christian Commonwealth need not be exactly a reproduction of the early USA Constitution, but the same concept of liberty by Christian representation would be a necessity. Remember, tyrants hate a representative government of “we the people” --- the right people that is. We had it. We lost it.

We the people pray for the return of King Jesus to save us from perishing. May the remnant in Christ receive a supernatural anointing in faith and deeds to remain to greet His return! Amen.
