

Whatever one’s take is on what really happened with WWII, it would be expedient to note what this high ranking German officer admitted:

"Naturally the common people don't want war: Neither in Russia, nor in England, nor for that matter in Germany. That is understood. But, after all, it is the leaders of the country who determine the policy and it is always a simple matter to drag the people along, whether it is a democracy, or a fascist dictatorship, or a parliament, or a communist dictatorship. Voice or no voice, the people can always be brought to the bidding of the leaders. That is easy. All you have to do is tell them they are being attacked, and denounce the peacemakers for lack of patriotism and exposing the country to danger. It works the same in any country." Hermann Goering, President of the Reichstag, Nazi Party, and Luftwaffe Commander in Chief. (Gustave Gilbert, conversations with Goering, Nuremberg Diary, April 188, 1946)

"The fact that the House of Rothschild made its money in the great crashes of history and the great wars of history, the very period when others lost their money, is beyond question." E.C. Knuth, Empire of the City, pg.71

"There is a sinister influence at work in our country, which if it is not checked, intends to completely undermine the original purpose of the formation of our government ... which for purposes of deception, they would call "a world's democracy." ... it would be the privilege of a few to rule in splendor, and the fate of the many to spend their lives in unrequited toil and that hopeless condition of servitude..." Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr. --his speech from the Congressional Record, Washington D.C., July 5, 1916

"We are grateful to the Washington Post, The New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost forty years ... It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we would have been subject to the bright lights of publicity during those years. But, the world is now more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectuals elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national determination in past centuries." David Rockefeller; June1991 Bilderberger Conference speech, Baden, Germany

"The amount of our National Debt is the measure of our enslavement to Jewish World Finance." Henry Ford Sr. (founder of Ford Motor Co.) The Dearborn Independent Newspaper, Dearborn Michigan, May 1922

"Under Socialism you would not be allowed to be poor. You would be forcibly fed, clothed, lodged, taught, and employed whether you liked it or not. If it were discovered that you had not the character and industry enough to be worth all this trouble, you might possibly be executed in a kindly manner. . . ." Fabian Socialist Bernard Shaw in his Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism,1928

"... the world is governed by very different personages from what is imagined by those who are not behind the scenes." Prime Minister of England Disraeli (during reign of Queen Victoria) Coningsby, by Disraeli; Longmans Co.,1881, page 252
